

Old Guy...

Young Brain!

When you dedicate yourself to a lifetime commitment to learn, and bring many years of experience to bear instilling a consumer-centric point of view into all your work for clients, the end result is both satisfying and successful.

I am blessed to have a group of terrific loyal clients to work with. Their success is my success.

I have a passion for planning, project management, and writing effective marketing communication in many forms, from news releases to articles to blogs to copy for websites, print and broadcast advertising, video production scripts, business letters, etc., heck – even invitations to events.

Wonder what's it's like to work with the old guy?

Ask my clients. Better yet, call me at 717-269-0288 or email jack@skylimitmarketing.com. The first meeting won't cost you a dime.

